Focused on getting the best outcome
in family law

Teresa Clark Evans has extensive family law experience with complex property divorce cases and highly litigated custody matters, as well as uncontested divorces and prenuptial and post-marital agreements. She is trained in collaborative law, the fine art of helping divorcing couples reach a settlement.

That expertise has earned her a Super Lawyers designation, one of six attorneys in the firm to achieve that honor.

In addition to family law, QSLWM offers practices in bankruptcy, business law, real estate and other matters. That range of experience often makes representation more cost-efficient for clients.

"If I have a question about taxes or real estate, I can get the answer down the hall," Evans says. "Everything we do is focused on getting the best outcome for clients."
